Teachers' Day celebrated

Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa rakes up 'Sanatana Dharma' debate

Social Welfare and District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa offering floral tributes to the portrait of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, whose birth anniversary is being celebrated as Teachers' Day today at Kalamandira in city. Others seen are Mayor Shivakumar, Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra, MLCs Marithibbegowda and C.N. Manjegowda and Chamaraja MLA K. Harishgowda.

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (BLU&BS)- Mysuru District In-charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa said that "There was barely 10 percent literacy rate earlier, as those propagating Sanatana Dharma had restricted Shudras from availing education."

The Minister was speaking in reference to Tamil Nadu Youth Welfare Minister M.S. Udhayanidhi Stalin's recent remarks against 'Sanatana Dharma', where the latter had equated it with Mosquitoes, Dengue, Malaria and COVID-19 pandemic.

Participating in the District-level Teachers Day celebration organised by the District Administration and Department of School Education and Literacy, on account of the birth anniversary of former President of India late Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, at Kalamandira in the city this morning, Dr. Mahadevappa said, "While those propagating Sanatana Dharma had restricted Shudras from being educated, it was Lord Macaulay who liberalised education so that even a common man can dream of getting education. Even the Constitution Expert Dr. B.R. Ambedkar acquired world knowledge, which became possible with Macaulay opening the education system to all. Poet Laureate Kuvempu himself had said, 'Hadn't I been educated, I would have been the slave of those propagating Sanatana Dharma.'

Following the formation of Kothari Commission in 1964, reforms were brought in education sector. Since then, there is a constant improvement in literacy rate which has now touched 75 percent, but still short of reaching 100 percent. Had we achieved cent percent literacy rate, we would have surpassed western countries and developed countries, he opined.

Mayor's term ends today but uncertainty continues

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (RK&DM)- As the current Mayor's term expires today, Sept. 5, there has been no communication from the Government regarding the next steps for the MCC (Mysuru City Corporation) so far.

Shivakumar of the BJP was elected as Mayor, with Dr. G. Roopa, also from the BJP, serving as the Deputy Mayor in the last elections. Shivakumar succeeded his fellow party colleague Sunanda Palanetra at that time.

With Mayor Shivakumar's term coming to an end today, the Municipal Administration Department has not yet issued directives to the MCC authorities regarding the way forward.

It remains uncertain whether they will be allowed to continue in their respective positions as In-charge officials until further instructions or if the administration of the MCC will be temporarily transferred to the District Administration until the next elections, which are scheduled in two months.

However, it is likely that Shivakumar will continue as the In-charge Mayor, with Dr. G. Roopa serving as his deputy for the time being.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The announcement of a special session of Parliament from September 18 to 22 has evoked not only surprise but much speculation about why the session has been convened. The Narendra Modi government has a penchant for drama and sensation, as seen by its actions like demonetisation and the scrapping of Article 370. But surprise and suspense should not be the norms in a democratic system. Sudden, mysterious actions by the government go against the imperative for openness and transparency in democratic functioning and proceedings. Only very few special Parliament sessions have been held in the past. Three such sessions were held in 1972, 1992 and 1997 to celebrate anniversaries of Independence and the Quit India movement. A special sitting was held in 2017 to roll out the Goods and Services Tax (GST). The agenda for these sittings were announced well in advance and they were not mysterious events suddenly unleashed on the Members of Parliament and the people to carry out a political agenda.

There was also impropriety in the method of announcement of the session. Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi made the announcement on social media first, before MPs were told about it.

By mystifying the session, the government is being unfair to the Opposition parties, MPs and the people. Normally, the agenda of a session is decided by a committee and made public well in time. This gives enough time for parties and members to study the items on the agenda and prepare for discussion and debate in the House. It is wrong to withhold such information and leave everyone to make their own guess. It amounts to disrespect of Parliament and the people. Suspense and secretiveness are associated with traits of character like lack of trust in others, conspiratorial conduct, authoritarianism, and the idea that one is cleverer and knows better than others. In governance and public affairs, it shows a lack of respect for others and a refusal to give space to them. That is against the spirit of democracy. — In Deccan Herald

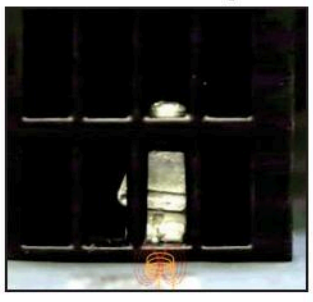
Cracked glass portraits of Natnael

Addis Ababa: Ethiopian-born artist Natnael Mekuria specializes in stunning celebrity portraits cracked into panes of glass using only a chisel and hammer.

22-year-old Natnael Mekuria discovered cracked glass art during the COVID-19 pandemic, but mastering the unusual art form took a lot of time and patience. In the beginning, he would spend hours chiseling at it only to have it break into pieces before finishing. But he didn't give up and today he is able to turn simple panes of laminated glass into beautiful works of art.

To create his intriguing artworks, Natnael begins by mapping the outline of the design on the glass pane and then proceeds to produce small cracks in the glass using a small metal chisel and a hammer. In order to obtain the desired result, he has to control the size of the cracks by hitting the chisel with varying degrees of force.

Robot that can liquify and resolidify



New York: A team of scientists has created a tiny robot that can melt itself and then resolidify on command in order to pass through tight spaces.

To create this rudimentary real-life T-1000, the international team of scientists embedded microscopic chunks of magnetic neodymium, boron and iron into liquid gallium, a metal that has a very low melting point.

Then, by using magnets to command the miniature robot to melt and turn into a puddle, they guided it through the bars of a cage, before having it resolidify into the original shape on the other side.

Aadhaar Seva Kendra staff have always shown utmost patience

Sir,

With reference to the letter regarding 'Lacuna in biometrics update at Aadhaar Seva Kendra' (ASK) in SOM dated Sept.1, I would like to offer the following clarifications:

1. It is clearly shown in the acknowledgement form as to how many fingers, iris and face have been updated. For fingers, there is a clear picture showing which fingers have been successfully captured by indication of tick marks.

If any fingers could not be captured it is indicated by cross (x) marks. In some cases the fingerprints of certain customers cannot be captured at all as their fingerprints are worn-out due to aging or chemical action.

However, a biometric update can be successful in Aadhaar even though any fingers may not be successfully captured due to aging or other physical reasons, since iris scan and photo are also captured.

2. Most ration shops, banks or mobile shops use single finger authentication devices which are less sensitive and reliable than the devices used in the ASKs. So there are many cases where they are not able to authenticate the customer's fingerprints even though the biometrics have been successfully updated in Aadhaar. In such cases they are required to do the authentication through OTPs or iris scan. This issue needs to be resolved by the ration shop, bank, etc.

3. Notwithstanding the above, the ASK staff have always shown utmost patience and co-operation while updating the biometrics of aged or handicapped persons, or young children.

Giving up land for industrial development may get you jobs

KIADB CEO Dr. Mahesh recommends regional offices to give priority to locals when allocating jobs

Dr. M. Mahesh (second from left), CEO of Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB), seen with city industrialists and officers during a spot inspection on Saturday.

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (RK&BCT)- The Industries Department of Karnataka is implementing a novel approach to compensate land-owners who surrender their farmland for the development of industrial estates.

In this unique initiative, job opportunities are provided to those land-owners who have contributed their land, with a preference for them in the allocation process. This strategic move is aimed at mitigating the challenges associated with land acquisition.

Dr. M. Mahesh, the CEO of the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB), has recommended that regional offices give priority to locals and individuals who have relinquished their land for development when allocating jobs. The KIADB, which operates under the Industries Department, specialises in the development and management of industrial real estate.

Land-owners may find this proposal appealing, as it not only secures them jobs but also grants them the benefits extended by the KIADB following land acquisition. Dr. Mahesh acknowledged the difficulty of persuading land-owners to part with their land, with many such attempts leading to protracted legal disputes.

During a visit to KIADB Regional Office on KRS Road on Saturday, where he met with officers and representatives from Mysuru's Industrial Associations, the KIADB CEO directed officials to allocate jobs to those who have lost their land in areas such as Kadakola, Immavu, and Adakanahalli, where land has been acquired for industrial development.

Dr. Mahesh said, "Identify qualified members within the families of those who have contributed their land and encourage the industries operating on the acquired land to provide them with job opportunities. This approach will dispel concerns that land-owners will be left jobless and homeless after their land is acquired."

Additionally, Dr. Mahesh conducted inspections of the Hebbal Industrial Area and the industrial layouts of Kadakola, Immavu, and Adakanahalli. During these visits, he assessed the availability of essential amenities such as roads, water, electricity, and the maintenance of cleanliness.

He urged officials to promptly address the disposal of construction and demolition waste along the roadsides and maintain cleanliness in the designated areas.

On their part, the Mysuru Industries Association (MIA) drew Dr. Mahesh's attention on bad condition of roads in industrial areas, poor maintenance of streetlights. The Association urged him to form the Mysore Industrial Township Authority or a Special Investment Region.

The Association also demanded the completion of Mysore Export Skills and Basic Training Centre and handing over of the Mysore Printers Cluster land to a Special Purpose Vehicle.

MIA Vice-President P. Vishwanath, Secretary Suresh Kumar Jain, as well as KIADB Special Land Acquisition Officer Priyadarshini, Development Officer Sushma, KIADB Assistant Secretary Uppar, MIA Joint Secretary N. Sathish, Treasurer Sreesaila Ramannavar, Manjunath from SC/ST Industries Association, President of MSME Council Ravi Koti, President of Mysore Printers Cluster Satish, Karnataka Small Scale Industries Association (KASSIA) member Manjunath were present at the meeting.

Human-animal conflict spikes in Mysuru, Kodagu, Hassan

Three including a child killed in separate incidents; Forest Department loses two skilled staff

Madikeri/Mysuru, Sept. 5 (BCT)- In an alarming sign of escalating human-animal conflicts in the regions of Kodagu, Mysuru, and Hassan, three individuals, including a child, have tragically lost their lives in recent animal attacks. This calls for immediate action by the State Government and the Forest Minister.

Venkatesh, a skilled member of the Forest Department, met a fatal end on Aug. 31 in Hassan district. He was attempting to tranquillise a wild elephant when he was trampled to death. B. Girish, a member of the Rapid Response Team (RRT) from the Forest Department, was trampled by a wild elephant at Kedakal near Madikeri in Kodagu district yesterday.

In a separate incident, a nine-year-old boy, Charan Nayak, lost his life in a tiger attack at Kallahatti village within the Metikuppe Wildlife Range, Nagarahole

RRT staff pays with life

In the case of the elephant attack on the RRT staff near Madikeri, Girish, a 35-year-old team member, was part of a 40-member team deployed to drive the wild elephants back into the forest. The tusker had been causing panic among the residents of Kedakal D Block, Karekolli, and the surrounding areas for several days, damaging crops in the process. An operation was initiated following villagers' complaints to drive the elephant back into the forest.

During the operation, the team attempted to chase the wild elephants herded across the estates of Kedakal back into the forest. They tracked the elephants and used crackers to disperse them. However, a wild tusker retaliated, resulting in a deadly attack on the foresters. While some managed to escape, Girish was caught in the attack.

As they chased the wild elephant, Girish and another team member inadvertently approached the elephant within the forest, leading to the aggressive retaliation. Fortunately, the other staff member escaped unharmed. Girish was rushed to the District Hospital in Madikeri, but he was declared brought dead.

Two more persons chased

Prior to the tusker's attack on Girish, a carpenter named Murugesh, a resident of Kedakal near Suntikoppa, narrowly escaped death when the same elephant ambushed him while he was riding a bike. He miraculously evaded the elephant but sustained minor injuries when he fell off his bike while fleeing the scene.

The tusker also pursued Mahesh, a resident of Horuru village, but he narrowly escaped by running into the forest, leaving his motorbike behind, which was subsequently damaged by the elephant before it retreated into the Devarakadu forest.

Madikeri Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) A.T. Poovaiah regretted the loss of an honest worker, who had been actively involved in controlling the wild elephant menace. He noted that the staff was well-prepared for the mission, with Girish even carrying crackers in his pockets but could not escape the attack.

The Forest Department has announced a compensation of Rs. 15 lakh to Girish's family. He is survived by a sister.

9-year-old boy's death in tiger attack sparks outrage, concern

H.D. Kote, Sept. 5 (BCT)- A nine-year-old boy, Charan Naik, fell victim to a tiger attack in Kallahatti village, located within the Metikuppe wildlife range of the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve. This heart-wrenching event occurred yesterday.

Charan Nayak

Young Charan, a second-standard student, was in the company of his parents, Krishna Naik and Mahadevibai, in a field within the village, which falls under H.D. Kote taluk in Mysuru district. His school had declared a holiday due to a sports meet, prompting his parents to bring him along to the field where they were working.

Charan's father had instructed him to sit under the comforting shade of a tree while they engaged in harvesting chillies in a nearby field. As the couple was picking chillies around noon, a tiger suddenly attacked Charan, dragging him to a nearby bush. His anguished cries alerted his parents.

The parents, overwhelmed by shock and grief, raised an alarm, drawing the attention of local residents who rushed to the scene.

H.D. Kote MLA Anil Chikkamadu along with villagers staging a protest against the Forest Department over the death of a boy in tiger attack yesterday.

Together, they managed to drive the tiger away, but it left behind the partially consumed remains of the young boy.

Fuelled by frustration and alleging negligence on the part of the Forest Department, the villagers staged a protest with Charan's dead body.

MLA Anil Chikkamadu was also present. The family refused to shift their son's body from the protest site and demanded the capture of the tiger, along with appropriate compensation.

The delayed arrival of Forest Department officials further exacerbated the villagers' outrage.

Orders issued to capture tiger

In response to a report from the Director of Nagarahole Tiger Reserve, the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest (Wildlife) and Chief Wildlife Warden issued permission for the capture of the tiger, with all necessary precautions in place.

The order specifically directed the staff to adhere to NTCA (National Tiger Conservation Authority) guidelines. Furthermore, it mandated a medical examination for the captured tiger and submit a report to the PCCF's Office for further action.

A grand-daughter's tribute to her Thatha on Teachers' Day

Remembering an extraordinary teacher of Kodagu, Devanira K. Appayya

By Pallavi Joyappa, USA

In 1909, under the Imperialist Empire of Edward VII, an illustrious son was born in Napoklu, Kodagu, who would later be known for his colossal contribution to education. Little did Dr. Devanira Kunjappa know that this son, Devanira K. Appayya would one day be the recipient of India's highest medal of honour bestowed on a citizen for teaching excellence.

Pallavi Joyappa

By the age of 20, in 1929, Devanira Appayya or Appayya Master, as he was lovingly called, put himself through various schools in Kodagu and then went on to graduate from the prestigious Madras Presidency College, an almost unheard of feat at that time.

Presidency College was one of the oldest and the most prestigious institutions in India, boasting of an envious line of alumna including a Nobel Laureate C.V. Raman, freedom fighter C. Rajagopalachari and philosopher Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, who later became the President of India.

Granny would regale us with stories of how Thatha, as we grand kids called him, got to Madras, now Chennai. "He walked, rode bullock carts, took multiple buses and then a train," she said. It had apparently taken him weeks to travel from Coorg to Chennai, a distance covered in a few hours today.

Financial constraints prevented him from pursuing a higher education, at which point, he returned and joined the Secondary Grade Teachers Training College in Bangalore. This was the start of his memorable teaching career.

Thatha was a born teacher and taught with a sense of compassion and empathy. He held the Head Master's job at Ammathi Middle School for over 22 years. Known for his impeccable British sense of style, sans the stiff upper lip, one would never find him in soiled clothes (from having spent his evenings picking coffee in his estate) or unpolished shoes.

He stood tall, towering over his colleagues, at 6'0", but Thatha was modest at heart. It was said that he was a treat to watch as an eloquent speaker. He was also the only Head Master from the State to be selected as a member of the State Prescription Textbook Committee.

In 1962, Government of India presented Devanira Appayya, aged 53, with the prestigious National President's Award for Teaching Excellence. An honour bestowed by the then President of India, Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, also a fellow alumnus of Madras Presidency College.

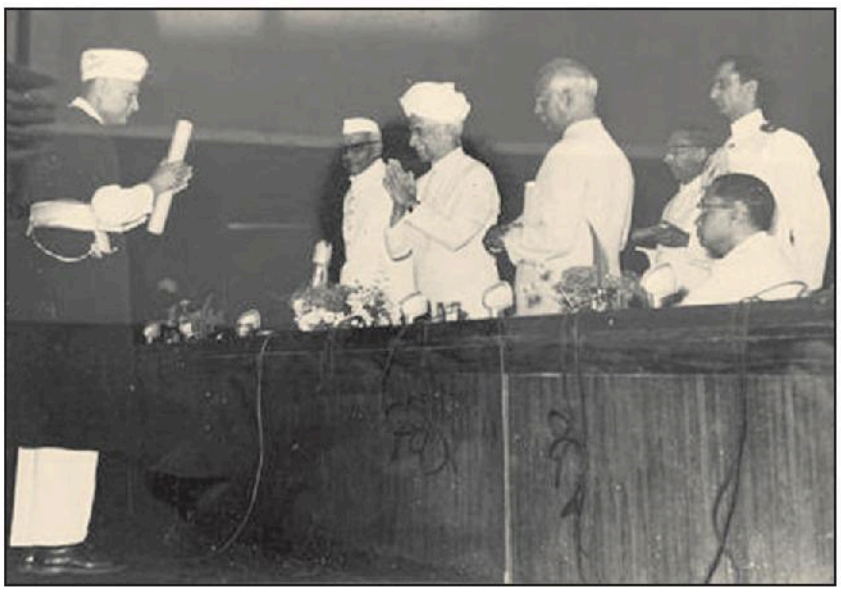
Never had a Kodava walked the history-laden, post-British Raj corridors of the Rashtrapati Bhavan, dressed in the traditional Kodava attire of Kupya (black collarless, short-sleeved, knee length coat) with the ceremonial Mande Thuni (head gear) and Chale (maroon gold-embroidered silk waist belt), striking quite the intellectual, handsome figure.

To be awarded this highest recognition was a matter of huge prestige, not just for him, but for the then small State of Kodagu and even smaller community of Kodavas. We were no longer tucked away in a silo of the Western Ghat. He had thus put the tiny State of Kodagu on the National stage.

The State of Mysore, considering his accomplishment as a teacher, extended his retirement by three years. "We pray to God to spare you for a full span of Vedic life and let God Almighty be with you and your family to enjoy your well-earned rest at Ammathi," wrote the Siddapur Teachers' Association on the day of his retirement on May 18, 1967.

Thatha died eleven years later at the age of 70. For his family, he was and is a larger-than-life figure, a trailblazer, a legend who touched the hearts of many and left a legacy which gets talked about even to this day.

Appayya Master was known for his unwavering dedication to his family and his craft serving as an inspiration. His ability to impart knowledge while being compassionate will be remembered for generations to come.



Devanira K. Appayya, in traditional Kodava men's attire, receiving the National President's Award for Teaching Excellence from the then President of India Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan in 1962 at the awards ceremony held at Rashtrapati Bhavan in New Delhi. Teachers' Day on Sept. 5 every year marks Dr. S. Radhakrishnan's birth anniversary.

"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

However, with the thrust on teaching Science and Technology nowadays, there have been some diversions. The phrase Maneye Modala Patashale (Home is the first school) still holds relevance, as without education, it is difficult to survive in the society. Though we can boast of scientific achievements, on the flip side, there are human sufferings still leading to cultural downfall, Minister Dr. Mahadevappa said adding that religion should ensure equality, but still we witness people treating others with inequality.

A total of 32 teachers were conferred District Best Teachers Award on the occasion.

Mayor has no moral right to question meeting cancellation: Ex-Mayor

Mysuru, Sept.5 (SBD&DM)- Former Mayor and Congress Corporator Ayub Khan has criticised Mayor Shivakumar, stating that he lacks the moral authority to question the MCC (Mysuru City Corporation) Commissioner for the postponement of the MCC Council meeting initially scheduled for Aug. 31.

During a press conference held at his office in the MCC premises yesterday, Ayub Khan addressed the recent comments made by MP Pratap Simha and Mayor Shivakumar, who raised concerns about the sudden postponement of the Aug. 31 MCC Council meeting.

Ayub Khan pointed out several instances where the Mayor had previously postponed meetings without valid reasons and questioned the Mayor's credibility in this matter.

He highlighted that the Mayor had governed the MCC for over eight months in the absence of Standing Committees and had even abruptly exited a meeting when the issue of Standing Committees was on the agenda. Ayub Khan questioned whether the Mayor had conveniently forgotten these actions.

Ayub Khan also raised questions about the Mayor's silence regarding the Greater Mysuru Plan for approximately eight months and wondered why Mayor Shivakumar and MP Pratap Simha chose to address this issue while the BJP was in power. Congress leaders Arif Hussain, Pushpalatha Jagannath, C. Sridhar and Syed Hazrathullah were present.

Dasara Elephants accorded traditional welcome at Palace

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (MTY&BCT)- The eight Dasara elephants, led by Abhimanyu, who will carry the 750-kg Golden Howdah, received a traditional welcome at the Mysore Palace this noon. They made an entry into the Palace at Abhijin Lagna between 12.01 pm and 12.51 pm.

WORD OF THE DAY

Reticent

Pronunciation: RET-uh-sunt.
Meaning: Reticent is often used as a synonym of reserved to describe someone who does not readily or openly talk to others. Despite objections from some, reticent is also often used as a synonym of reluctant.
Origin: We hate to break it to the language sticklers among us, but use of reticent as a synonym of reluctant—though it veers away from the word's Latin origins in the verb reticēre, meaning "to keep silent"—is well established, and there is no reason to be reticent about employing it. In fact, reticent took on its "reluctant" sense a mere 50 years after first appearing in English in the early 19th century with the meaning "inclined to be silent or uncommunicative." Though brows may furrow and lips may purse, the development of reticent's newer meaning has some logic to it: English speakers first used reticent synonymously with reluctant when the context was speech, as in "he was reticent to talk about his past," keeping the word close to its "silent" beginnings. Eventually, however, exclusive association with speech was abandoned, and one can now be reticent to do anything, even if it's to admit that language is not immutable.
Example: "Having long harbored ambitions to produce and direct, [Eva] Longoria decided it was time to pivot. But the same industry that was ready to program her into its fall lineup was more reticent to put her behind the camera for one of its series." — Mia Galuppo, The Hollywood Reporter, 28 June 2023.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Rome was not built in a day

Meaning: When you say 'Rome was not built in a day' you mean that something is going to take time to complete.
Origin: The origin of expression 'Rome was not built in a day' is an ancient one, attesting to fact that it takes time to create things that are worthwhile. One of the first examples was published in France sometime around 1190.
Example: "I heard you're writing a book. When will it be finished?" Answer: "Sometime next year. After all, Rome was not built in a day!"

I found Rome a city of bricks and left it a city of marble.
